Dress Down Day tomorrow - October 16

All Wilson middle school students are invited to apply for membership on the editorial board of Wilson's literary magazine, The Phoenix. The magazine needs enthusiastic editors and creative graphic designers. Applications went home in last week's communication folder, and are due by Thursday, October 23. For more information, please email Mrs. James at: tessjames@thewilsonschool.com. Don't miss out on this fun and rewarding opportunity!

The Scholastic Book Fair is coming to Wilson on October 22, 23 and 24. The attached flyer is just a preview. There are many more books available at the Fair. On Wednesday, October 22, the Lower School will visit the Fair and make wish lists of the books they would like. Parents should review the list with their child and decide together which books to purchase. The Middle School will visit the Fair on Thursday, October 23. Some parents send in money with their student and let them choose; others prefer to review the wish list first. Whichever way works for you, the books will be on sale through Friday. If a book is sold out, we will order more and usually they ship the next day. On October 24, the children will be able to visit the Book Fair again with their grandparents and special friends. Parents are welcome to come in and browse during school hours. Any questions, call Ms. Everett.

On Halloween, October 31, students may wear their costumes to school. If you do not wear a costume, you must wear regular uniform clothes. This is not a dress down day.
